

NCR APTRA™ OptiVault

Want to identify the optimal cost of vault cash management?

YES

Superior vault cash management

NCR APTRA OptiVault is a vault consolidation application that optimizes currency and coin ordering and clearing for bank money rooms and carrier vaults. APTRA OptiVault fully complements the APTRA OptiCash cash management system. Like APTRA OptiCash, APTRA OptiVault uses historical bank, ATM and commercial cash demand data to forecast future currency needs. APTRA OptiVault takes into account seasonal fluctuations, calendars, events, and many other trends that influence demand for cash at the vault or money room.

- Optimize costs without sacrificing quality

APTRA OptiVault forecasts currency requirements and evaluates them against the various cost components associated with ordering, holding, and delivering currency to and from a vault. APTRA OptiVault uses this information to identify the optimal cost required to meet cash demands at each vault and money room. It then maintains the information in line with circulation quality and cash and coin denominations for each vault.

- A comprehensive view

APTRA OptiVault accurately forecasts total branch, ATM, and commercial cash demand to deliver a bank-wide or network-wide view of overall currency requirements, while taking changing trends and local variations into account.

- Proven performance

APTRA OptiVault is built upon the same core technology as APTRA OptiCash and is the most comprehensive vault cash management software solution available. It is proven in money center applications worldwide.
